

One World Centre – professional learning for early childhood educators Young children as global citizens: connecting to and contributing to the world

Young children are connected to a changing world in many ways and with the right support are able to act to improve their society and environment. A global perspective in the early years gives children knowledge and skills to help them navigate their world now and into the future. Young children can learn about:

- ★ places in the world and the connections they have with those places;
- ★ ways they see the world and how others see the world differently;
- ★ things they have in common with, and things they can learn from people of many cultures;
- ★ ideas of fairness and how people's actions have consequences for others;
- ★ developing empathy for and building peaceful relationships with others;
- ★ the importance of the natural environment and how we can care for it.

The One World Centre provides a range of professional learning services for educators working in family daycare, long day care and other early childhood services. Our workshops are interactive, relevant, and assist educators to implement key aspects of the National Quality Standard and Early Years Learning Framework. Participants will expand their own knowledge of global issues, take away practical strategies to use in their service and explore the One World Centre's collection of globally focused early childhood resources.

Choose a 1 or 2 hour workshop from:

- ★ Global Citizenship in early childhood: connecting to and contributing to the world
- ★ Identity and cultural diversity in the early years
