The Climate Crisis: From Understanding to Action

Be part of our discussion with meteorologist Joe Courtney, who will update us on the science of climate change, and writer/editor Emma Coupland, advocating for community climate action.

How can we respond individually and collectively to be a part of the solution? The news may not be good but we can commit to a hope-based approach to address the crisis.

Our discussion will take place over a sustainably homemade and delicious Mediterranean dinner and drinks with people who share goals for a better future.

You are also welcome to join us earlier for the One World Centre AGM at 5.30 pm.

Cost: by donation for a delicious Mediterranean dinner

Where: One World Centre, 5 King William St, near Bayswater train station

Register: (free but essential) <https://events.humanitix.com/the-climate-crisis-from-understanding-to-action-at-the-one-world-centre>
